WE RECOMMEND IN ALL CASES A GOOD MULCHING WITH MR HARRY KING'S N04 ALL IN COMPOST AND THE JUDICIOUS USE OF THE WATER BUTT.

STO STALKER

A variety that grows to a huge size in all weather conditions, but seems to follow you home and wait outside the privy at night when you're in there after a good helping of cabbage beer.

STO RED

A variety that grows to a huge size in all weather conditions, but is really, really green. When they come up with a good joke out there on the cabbage farms, they don't let it go in a hurry.

MICKLEGREEN'S JUICY

A variety that grows to a huge size in wet conditions, but if you are unfortunate enough to tread near after it is ripe it will explode over you and no amount of scrubbing will get the smell off for weeks.

HELIT PRIZE APPROVED FOR EXPORT

A beautiful full-crowned cabbage with a firm heart, full-leaved, easy to grow, almost picks itself, can never be overcooked, but is totally inedible. Sold for export.

IMPORTANT.

ONLY THOSE VARIETIES MARKED:
APPROVED FOR EXPORT
CAN BE.

BLUE BOLTER
Blue Green with a small heart but large outer leaves, very nervous and, owing to some residual magical gene, prone to run away if startled.

BURLY BOLTER
As blue Bolter, but will leap up out of the ground and head-butt you.

CHOI CHAMPION
An aristocrat of cabbages, smooth, urbane, well connected, likes to be planted close together away from any other Brassica. Prone to sneering.

SCENTLESS MUTE
A very quiet variety that is so pungent it will render the picker's olfactory senses useless for days when picked. A good boiler.

SPRING POUNCER
The tightly packed outer leaves have a habit of unfurling when it is picked. This releases the inner leaves, which are razor sharp. A good eater, but wear chain mail gloves when picking.

 IMPORTANT.
ONLY THOSE VARIETIES MARKED:
APPROVED FOR EXPORT
CAN BE.

MORNING GLORY
Large, big-hearted variety that grows in wet conditions and is almost resistant to background magic and frogs. Tastes slightly of mice.

SCHWEINFART EMPEROR
Rare breed from Uberwald, quite liked by Vampires because werewolves are sickened by the smell.

JOLLY GIANT
Small but very green, good for soups as it expands in water by 300%.

SAVOLOY SPECIAL APPROVED FOR EXPORT
Named after the man who bred this variety, Mr Harold Savoloy, who was aiming to produce a cabbage suitable for sausage making. The cabbagewurst never caught on, though, because green sausages often don't.

THE KENDLE GREEN APPROVED FOR EXPORT
A Red Cabbage. Oh, how they laugh at this on the farms of the Sto Plain! Has a hint of mustard.

KING'S SNIVEL APPROVED FOR EXPORT
Ephebian mythology tells us that the cabbage sprang from the fallen tears of a king who was about to be killed by one of the Gods for making water amongst His holy grove of turnips. As the King's tears fell, the god felt compassion and turned him into a tortoise. An eagle ate him five minutes later, but it's the thought that counts.

BIG HEARTED ARTHUR
A cross between the old variety of Askey and a mute hybrid called Mabel. A good money maker. APPROVED FOR EXPORT

OFFLE KING
A white cabbage that is green to look at before cooking; good for salads, beer making and soling shoe
